

PHYSICAL BASES OF OPTICAL MEMORY
ELEMENT FORMATION USING FREE
ELECTRONS

A. Yu. Kobrinskii, G. E. Chaika

Kyiv Institute of Communications
(7, Solom'yanska Str., Kyiv 03110, Ukraine)

S u m m a r y

We consider optical memory elements formed by using free electrons on the basis of both the 'amorphous semiconductor – crystal' first-order phase transition and the formation of an extra lattice in a semiconductor. It is found that thermal excitation of the electron subsystem of the material is essential for such a phase transition.