summary

The influence of the adsorption of water molecules on the photosensitivity of a silicon $p-n$ junction with interdigitated back contacts has been studied. It has been shown that the examined structures can be used for the creation of effective chemical sensors.